

Under the lens

Over the coming weeks, as the art season slows down, up and coming artists are likely to make their presence felt in galleries across the city. This fortnight, the works of 14 artists under the age of 35 years, who were shortlisted for the Foundation for Indian Contemporary Art's Emerging Artist Award 2009 and 2010, travel to Mumbai.

Titled 'To be continued...', the exhibition doesn't restrict the artists by any particular theme. Instead, it aims to give a peek into their current preoccupations, suggesting there is much to look forward to in the future. The list of artists includes Asim Waqif, Jasmeen Patheja, Jeetander Ojha, Sonia Jose and Paribartana Mohanty, who was shortlisted in 2009 and won the 2010 award.
